The bill limiting labor on government work by private contractors to eight hours a day was ordered favorably reported from the Senate Committee on Education and Labor.

One Western city has a highly accomplished player. He is a lawyer by profession, the fastest shorthand writer in the city and the best amateur trombone player.

A reduction in the cost of fire insurance to policyholders by the curtailment of commissions paid to agents in nineteen western States, it is said, will be the result if a report of the committee on the merging of the Western Union of Fire Underwriters and the bureau of fire underwriters is adopted by the former in convention at Atlanta.

RECREATIONS

CLEVER PEOPLE APPRECIATED

That Honolulu audiences are not appreciative has always been the conclusion here with theatrical people, but the reception of Cecile, Eldred and Carr at the Liberty must stand as an exception. Pleasant surprise and enjoyment were demonstrated in loud cheering at the end of their first show last night. Eldred acknowledged the call with a little curtain speech which brought more cheers. To describe the act is like trying to tell of a good dinner. You need to present the whole bill-of-fare to do it justice. Perhaps the portion that gets the most applause is when Carr, the silent, dexterous clown, balances himself on one finger stuck in a bottle. Coming as it does after an introductory talk by Cecile, the woman of the company, one-half expects a comedy stunt instead of a difficult and skillful track. Cecile and Eldred in their refined acrobatic dance do some extremely difficult turns in perfect time with waltz music. There is also some clever globe balancing, but, as said in the beginning, you have to see the whole act to appreciate its entertainment. "The Socialist," a short sketch by Montague, presented by the Al Hallett Co., came in for considerable applause at its conclusion, although only a few cheered the socialistic speech, which is the principal part of the dialogue. To give a synopsis of the plot would spoil the playlet for you, but it has dramatic heart touches that reach even the bitter anti-socialists. John Rogers, the basso singer, was, as usual, well received.

BIJOU HAS NEW TALENT

"Marvelous" is the Honolulu opinion of the bicycle slack-wire act that opened at the Bijou during the week. "I am going to take the children to see it," is the statement of one theater-goer after watching this act last night. Certainly, the Francis Dainty Company which is presenting this act has met with approval even though the cheering does not at first indicate it. The act is so thrilling in its daring that it causes more astonishment than applause. But it's good—so good that it's much better than the usual. With the new acts that arrived this morning on the Sierra, the Bijou has a program of more than ordinary interest for the week-end. An opening act there tonight is a team billed as Bayle and Patsy, in comedy dancing and singing. "Crisco favorites in vaudeville" is the comment that preceded them, which prophesies a Honolulu success. The Four Alberts, the Russian dancers, will only be at the Bijou for two more nights, and all who really enjoy a high-class act never tire of seeing these superb entertainers.

EMPIRE ALSO HAS NEW ACT

"Effie Touring the World" and company will make their first Honolulu appearance tonight at the Empire Theater. She gives a wonderful performance in mental telepathy that is altogether different in appearance and performance from the usual telepathy act. She and her automobile have been seen upon the street several times since the arrival of the Honolulu, and until now there has been some mystery about her presence in the Islands. In addition to this new act Morris Golden will continue at the Empire in his inimitable manner. His violin playing and jokelets never fail to get laughs and cheers.

SYMPHONY SEAT SALE TO OPEN MONDAY

Announcement was made this morning by President Love of the Honolulu Symphony Society that the seat sale for the opening concert will begin on Monday morning at the box office of the Orpheum Theater.

Great interest has been manifested in the concert, which will take place on Tuesday evening, May 7, at the Empire Theater. So strong is the interest that the seat sale should open with a rush. Moderate prices will prevail, the announcement being made in the advertising columns of this paper today.

The concert will mark the reorganization of the symphony society. It will include solo numbers by a violinist and a soprano. The full program will be announced later.

The society has decided not to solicit subscriptions generally to defray its expenses, but to depend on the public spirit of the music lovers of the city to attend the concerts and make them a financial success.

The Department of Agriculture has just published its "black list," authorized by Congress, giving the names and addresses of 148 persons and firms who during the last year sold adulterated seeds of grasses, clover or alfalfa.
